LIBRARY NEWS

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Presently, the library is small and overcrowded; consequently, please remember to speak softly and use the library for study or research. Respect the rights of fellow students by acting appropriately. The student center is available for students who wish to socialize and visit with others; please use it instead of the library unless you have library work to do. Students who do not act appropriately will be asked to leave the library. NOTE: Audio visual rooms are sometimes available for groups who wish to study together; ask a library staff member if you're interested.

SHELTON INSTRUCTOR ATTENDS EDUCATIONAL SESSION IN CANADA

Paula Sue Hayes, instructor in English and women's studies, recently attended the conference of American Educational Research Association in Montreal, Canada. Hayes presented a paper during the session on higher education entitled, "Transitions: Changing Patterns in the Lives of Adult Women Students." The interesting thing, Hayes commented, was that everyone at the conference spoke French.

TALENT SEARCH VISITS WEST BLOCTON

The Talent Search program from Shelton State has presented two programs recently for West Blocton High School. Mrs. Jesse Buttram, Tuscaloosa poet, presented several poems and spoke of surmounting physical handicaps. Mrs. Buttram has extremely limited vision. In addition to West Blocton, she has also given sessions in Northside High School.

Mrs. Virginia Moseley of the Alabama State Employment Agency addressed the students at West Blockton recently concerning occupational choices. This session was also held as part of Shelton's Talent Search program.

SHELTON STUDENTS CHOSEN AS MISSIONARIES

Sonya Prudent and Lisa Murphy have been chosen as summer missionaries by the Home Mission Board. Sonya will be working in St. Petersburg/Largo, Florida. Lisa Murphy has been assigned to an undesignated area. Each session will last for ten weeks.

FAULKNER EXHIBIT IN LIBRARY

A special exhibition of photographs of William Faulkner, entitled "William Faulkner: The Cofield Collection," will open at Shelton State Community College on May 16 and will hang through June 12. The exhibition consists of sepia prints of Faulkner photographs, combines with texts from his letters and lectures, and mounted on silk-screened, three-color panels.

A Faulkner poster, produced by the State Historical Museum, a division of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, will be available in limited quantity at the exhibit. The exhibit will be in the library of the Junior College Monday - Thursday, 8 a.m. - 10 p.m. and Friday, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

SHELTON STATE DAYS AT UNIVERSITY MALL WILL BE MAY 13-14. MORE ABOUT THIS EVENT WILL BE ANNOUNCED NEXT WEEK. CIRCLE THE DATE ON YOUR CALENDAR SO YOU CAN BE SURE TO BE THERE.

AAEOPP STATE MEETING

The Alabama Association of Education Opportunity Program Personnel will hold its annual spring meeting in Tuscaloosa May 5 at Stillman College. Over 39 educational institutions will be represented with approximate 125 members attending. This organization has given over 17 years of service to students in the state. Some of AAEOPP programs are: Upward Bound, Talent Services, Veterans Upward Bound and Educational Opportunity centers. These programs are designed to promote equal access and opportunity to postsecondary education in the U.S. The theme for the conference is "Political Involvement - A Prerequisite for Trio Survival." Luncheon speakers will be Andy Dearman, district representative for the office of Congressman Richard Shelby. Conference presenters include Dr. David Freeman, Assistant Dean of Special Programs at Shelton State, and Army Daniels, coordinator of special services at Alabama A & M University, Huntsville. Bessie J. German, director of Educational Talent Search at Shelton, is state president of AAEOPP.
